Oscar Home Cinema Seating

For many people out there films are an important part of their lives. Through them we can live vicariously and experience things we could only dream of. The only problem with cinemas these days is the children that talk during the movie, the guy that laughs manically at the most inappropriate times and the one bad egg who always forgets to turn their phone off. Think of the advantages of having your own home cinema; no queues, no tickets, no over priced snacks and there will never be a bad film on the screen. What could possibly be better?

- One or three seater versions
